

Susan J. Flynn-Hollander, Esq.

Ethics Training Officer

State of New Jersey, State Ethics Commission

Ms. Flynn-Hollander joined the Executive Branch of NJ State Government service in early 2022, bringing years of legal, business, compliance, and data privacy experience to this new venture. Prior to joining the State, Susan served as the General Counsel and VP Regulatory Affairs and Compliance Officer at New Jersey Innovation Institute where she provided training, advice, and counsel to six diverse corporate divisions – encompassing Healthcare, BioPharma, Data & Technology, Education, Entrepreneurship and Defense and Homeland Security. In her role as General Counsel for corporations and healthcare systems, Susan developed operational teams, trained employees, management, and boards on compliance, privacy, and data protection laws, while applying the concepts to business transactions, processes, risk management and legal matters. An enthusiastic lecturer and panelist at industry events and law school programs, member of non-profit, education and venture capital boards, Susan is passionate about privacy in regulated industries. She particularly enjoys mentoring young lawyers, physicians, healthcare practitioners, and entrepreneurs as they embark on their career paths.
